Celebrate Freedom

Have you told a soldier thank you? We heard on the news the other day that less than 23% of Americans really know what Memorial Day is all about. That is staggering news, since we are in the middle of wars on two fronts and lives are being lost every day for our freedom.

Being a military wife of 20 years I know what it is like for families stateside while your loved ones are far away. I know the loss, as my own birth father was a casualty of the Korean War. Freedom does not come free. Our country was founded on religious freedom. Our spiritual walk is because someone, our Lord Himself, sacrificed so that we could be freed from the penalty of sin. Is it worth living for? YES!

Celebrate Life

Is life wonderful? YES! Even when things do not always go the way we want or try to make them. The specialist told Lauana on May 15th that her vocal cords are still red and swollen even after 3 1/2 months since surgery. Since we are home for a few weeks and just catching up and not teaching again until mid June, she felt that she could rest her voice and not be put on mandatory voice rest. Please pray that this is not a permanent thing. Her regular doctor is still seeing her every 8 weeks adjusting the Synthroid and BP meds.

Celebrate Friends

We were able to take a few days off after coming back from South Carolina and joined friends we had not seen for a while in Ashville, NC. They came in from Iowa and Wisconsin. It was such a blessing to be with them and share and laugh about the days when our children were growing up together. And to catch up on what they and the grandchildren are doing now. We all went to church together in Dubuque, IA before we came to West Virginia. We are celebrating 23 years serving the Lord here.

From our heart to yours,

Larry & Lauana

Pray for willing and able workers to work with us for the souls of the children.

Pray for children to have open hearts and minds to hear the truth of God's Word.

Pray for decisions to be made in their lives.

Thank God for the freedom to share His love with the children.
